

No need to reinvent the wheel. The Internet is awash with websites for creating rubrics at all grade levels and all content areas.

Rubrics on the Internet

There are hundreds of rubrics available on the Internet. A word of caution, however—many examples available on the Internet are not well-constructed rubrics. Copy these with caution and modify them to suit your expectations and the needs of your students. Here are some sites where you can create or find rubrics to use as starting points.
